

We work closely with the Cancer Society. The Society can help you travel to your medical appointments, or provide you accommodation if you live far away from hospital.

Cancer Society specialist nurses can support you through your treatment and answer any questions you have - big or small.

If you want to talk, the Cancer Society have trained professionals to help you.

NO ONE SHOULD FACE HEAD AND NECK CANCER
ALONE

RESEARCH SHOWS THAT
70% of cancer patients feel alone!

IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE THAT WAY!

Connect with us!

Who are we?

We are a New Zealand incorporated society connecting, supporting and advocating for people affected by head and neck cancer.

We have all been touched by head and neck cancer.

We can help you:

- dealing with a diagnosis.
- navigate the health system
- connect with the right services to ease your cancer journey.

We provide a positive community of patients, carers and whānau.

We offer you a friendly ear, suggestions on managing your wellbeing, and a place to be you without judgement.

You can connect with us from anywhere in New Zealand.
#headnecknz

We have a Facebook page, a closed Facebook support group, and regular newsletters.

We give you the opportunity to join coffee groups in your area or participate online webinars.
